BIDDY'S CLEGY.

In one of our suburban villages, an old hen; that had reached the great age of 8 1-2 years; recently sickened and died. In the course, of her long and useful life, she had feared some 200 chickens. The dalldren of the family on account of hor great age and motherly qualities, had given her the title of Grandmother, The fact of her decease being communicated to an absent member of the family, she penned the following clogy:

A letter, aunouncing old Grandmother's death

thus come to my hands to day, Telling me that her poor perishing breath Has finally wasted away. For eight long years the good old fowt.
Iles wandered around the place,
And never a whimper, a pout, or a roowl,
Iles lowered on her kindly lace.

How varied her life! she has soon her friends, One after another depart, And when they left her so tonely, she terred, She should die of a broken heart.

She has dried her tears, as to her side, Generations of chickens have bropt, Une giving place to another, till now! The last in her bosom has slept.

For now nevermore her wings shall enfuld.

Her feathered nestlings again,
The they watch for her coming with tears and sighs,
They will watch and weep in vain.

They must learn to pick and scratch for themselves,
They've no mother to teach them new.
For she who should feed them is gone—the sleep Ut ages is on her brow.

"Man' has it has not down when you are gond,
"What shall we do, when you are gond,
Your sister hens and I,
They never will caskle—I never will erow
Again—if I live till I dia!"

He gazed at his wife—her eye was closed, Her soul was no longer there, He could not refrain—he crowed! but his crow Was a piercing wail of despair.

There was grief in the poultry yard that day, The mosts all neglected stood, The dinner was brought—but one and sil Declared they could taste no food.

Old Grandma, we bid you farewell with tears Of mingled pleasure and pain, We'll rejoice in all the good you've done, Put we'll ne'er see your like again.

George felt savagely jeclous of this unknown Harry. He did not love Miss Gardiner not he, indeed; but he lind no objections to falling in love with him.

After breakfast was over, Laura, her gousin, and her friend, went into the music room. Fampy soon found that George's Voice and musical talent and Loura stole away "on household cares intenta leaving the two in the middle of a duet. One after another was tried. Their voices harmonized perfectly, and the store of music was when she opened the door and saw Faniy playing a brilliont accom-paniment, and George leaning over her joining his rich tenor voice to her pure soprano. ...

Sinte. The Messago is a perfect model of what such documents should be. It states in a clear, comprehensive, and methodical estly supposing that he was in Mr Barber's manner, the present position of public nifairs in this great Commonwealth, of the West, showing a march of progress and civilization which, but for Algures, " which and show why we allowed him to go to the will not lie," could hardly be credited by us " slow " neople of the East. It is pleasing to observe with what apparent unanim ity the conservative people of this State have adopted the Republican platform, and expressed the determination to return to nal policy of the Republic, which they will crush at once and forever in our oily, this cherish as strongly as any State in the new form of villainy. confederacy. They leel their importance in the Union, and know the power which as an independent Commonwealth, they possess. The Governor says :

LOCAL ITEMS.

We have been told that last season sev eral of our clergy and others, who are charac-terized by an enlarged love of humanity-by an interest in our whole community, urged the Philharmonic Society to give several concerts, so far as to advise that the necessary funds be raised by subscription, and then the doors should be freely opened to all. Others advised look by daylight," thought George, as the course which was taken, a subscription for one concert. Happily for the Society, and one concert. Happing for the Ecclety, and honorably for the generous subscribers and others, that concert was a success. Having tried the advice of one part of their numerous friends, we should like to see that of the other-part tested this winter, and as the time has now come when that Society usually gives one or more public entertainments, we hope they will issue proposals for a course.

We have noticed for a year or two, the growing sympathy and generous feeling which has been manifested among the different public bodies in our city. The several fire companies have shown a warm interest in each other, and have extended those courtesles and attentions towards their fellows, which betoken an enlarged and liberal view of their duties and interests. This is in a high degree honorable to our community, and especially to our fremen, bosides answering many objections in the mind of some, to fire companies, by shewing that the legitimate influence of such associations is to elevate and ennoble. We rejoice at this extended sympathy, and hope it may increase tended sympathy, and hope it may increase until all institutions formed for good and pub-lic purposes shall feel sure of each other's sym-pathy and aid.

If the Philharmonic Society decide to give a course of concerts at a liberal price, they must meet the generous support of all classes, or they will most assuredly lose money and all their labor. Will not all the other associations aid a sister institution by their sympathy and subscriptions, and thus establish a new bond of union in doing good? And will not all of were not one whit interior to her own ; our citizens go and do likewise, thereby fortoring a society which is an henor to our city

GENERAL NEWS.

A CHILD ROASTED ALIVE. - One of the most harrowing incidents we have ever re-corded, says the New Orleans Delta, oca Ohio has uttered no menance of disminor when the American people larve soon fit to entrust the powers of the Pederal Gurernment to editions of other political views than those of a majority of her citizens. No threats of disminor in a similar contingency by citizens of other States will excite in her any soutiments save those of sorrow and reprobation. They will not may be from her course. *She will not its dissolution by others.

FINDING FAULT WITH CHILDREN. -It's at times, necessary to censure and punish But very much more may be done by encouraging children when they do well. He, therefore, more careful to express your approbation of good conduct than your disapprobation of good conduct than your dis-approbation of ball. Nothing can more discourage a child than a spirit of ince-anat fault-finding on the part of its par-ents. And herdly snything can exert a more injurious influence upon the disposi-tion both of the parent and shill.

There are two great motives influencing There are two great motives influencing human action—kope and fear. Both of these are at times necessary. But who would not prefer to have her child influenced to good conduct by a desire of pleasing, rather than by the lear of offending? If a mother never expresses her gratification when her children do well, and is always censuring them when she sees anything amias, they are discouranced and until the sees and the sees anything amias, they are discouranced and unthing amiss, they are discouraged and un thing amias, they are discouraged and un-happy. Their dispositions become bur-dened and soured by this conseless fretting, and at last, finding, whether they do well and at last, finding, whether they do well or ill, they are equally found fault with they relinquish all efforts to please, and become heedless of reprovehes.

But let a mother approve of her child's enduct whonever she can. Let her show that his good behaviour makes her sincerely happy. Let her reward him for his efforts to please by amiles and affection. In this way she will cherish in her child's eart some of the noblest and most desiraheart some of the noblest and most desirable feelings of our nature. She will cultivate in him an amiable disposition and a cheerful spirit. Your child has been through the day very pleasant and obedient. Just before putting him to sleep for the night you take his hand and say: "My son, you have been very good to day. It makes me very happy to see you so kind and obedient. God loves children who are dutiful to their parents, and promises the dutiful to their parents, and promises to make them happy." This approbation from his mother is to him a great reward. And when, with a more than affectionate tone, when, with a more than ancommass this, you say, "Good night, my dear son," he leaves the room with his heart full of feeling. And when he closes his eyes for sleep, he is happy, and resolves that he will always try to do his duty.—The Mother at Home,

GREAT WONDER

PROFESSOR WOOD'S

Says the St. Lou's (Mo) Democrat: Below we publish a letter to Dr. Wood of this city, from a gentlemen in Maine, which speaks glowingly of the superior merits of his half tonic. Such evidence must have its effect, when coming from a reliable source. If certificates are guarantees of truth, the Dr. needs no encombuna, nor useless puffer from the press:

BATH, Maine, Jan. 29, 1859.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co:

GENTLEMEN: Having my attention called a few months since to the highly benedialedfacts of your hair restorative. I was induced to make application of it upon my own hair, which had become quite grey, probably one-third white; my whiskers were of same character. Some three months since I progred a bottle of your hair restorative; and used it. I soon found it was proving what I had wished. I used it about a week. Thave since procured another bottle, of which I have used some. I can now certify to the world that the gray or white hair has totally disappeared, both on my head and face, and my hair has resumed its natural color, and I believe, more soft and glossy than it has been before for twenty-five years. I am now sixty years old; my good wife at the age of fifty-two has used it with the same effect.

The above notice I deem due to you for your valuable discovery. I am assured that whoever will rightly use, as per directions, will not have occasion to contradict my statements, I am actifice of this city and a resident here for the last fifteen years, and am known to nearly every one here and adjointing towns. Any use you may make of the above, with my name attached, is at you service, as I wish to preserve the beauties of nature in others as well as myself. I am, truly yous,

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.
Professor Wood-Dear Sir: Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, isom the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1861, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to anewer to the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glussy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

BROOKFIRLD, Jan. 12, 1858.

Prinfessor Wood—Dear Sir: Having made trial of your Hair Restorative, it gives ma pleasure to say, that its effect has been excellent in removing inflamation, dandruff and a constant tendency to itching with which I have been troubled from my childhood; and has also restored my heir, which was been ing gray, to its original color. I have used no other article with anything like the same pleasure or profit.

The Restorative is out up in Bottles of 3

The Bestorative is put up in Bottles of 3 sizes, viz: large, medium and small; the small holds I 1-2 a pint, and retails for oue dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least
